

The finding of Morel steppe in the South-East of Saratov region is given. This is a new point of distribution of regional red data book species on the territory of the region.