

The paper presents the results of a study of the structural elements of morphogenesis of immature embryos of two nursing wheat lines cultured in vitro on agar medium containing lipopolysaccharide.