

The article presents the results of bioecological analysis of ruderalis fraction of flora on the uneven fallow lands located on the territory of Engel's district of Saratov region.