

The article presents the results of sweet corn research in the Lower Volga region, sample grades that differ in useful economic properties and also article shows description of the sorts which are accept to usage.