

The data of selection of optimal variant of explants defertilization (sort «Tornfree») are given. The field material is shown to be undergone of internal infection more than a hothours one. It is also educed that a bigger explants develops better though it is more difficult to sterilize it. The stable growing sterile culture has been got for further research.